

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The Institute of Cooperatives and Bio-Enterprise Development (ICOPED) holds the international Conference on Cooperatives (ICCOOP) every three years as part of its commitment and advocacy to promote national and global competitive development. ICCOOP was first held in November 2012 during the International Year of Cooperatives and is now on its third round.

The goal of the 3rd International Conference on Cooperatives or ICCOOP2018 is to make significant impact on the national and global cooperative movement by promoting exchange of technical and practical knowledge and facilitating interactions among cooperators, cooperative advocates, development practitioners, academicians, researchers, and policymakers. ICCOOP2018 aims to provide a venue for:

- Sharing information and experiences on cooperative development;
- Imparting innovative ideas and models for cooperative enterprise development;
- Advancing scientific and technical knowhow for cooperative research, teaching, extension and policymaking; and
- Establishing linkages and promoting collaborations among cooperatives and related sectors.
